

The Train Depot was originally built in 1925 and acted as a branch of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co that connected to Rogers. Today, the train's caboose sits outside the Bentonville History Museum at 416 S Main Street.

